

Direct Characterization

DIRECTIONS: Each statement below is an example of indirect characterization. Write a few sentences that reveals the same trait using direct characterization.

1. Jenny stumbled on her way into the room, and blushed deeply. After a few moments she managed to look up and around. No one was paying her any attention. She headed for the refreshment table, grabbed the first thing she saw, and retreated to a corner. There, she sat in a shadow, refusing to meet anyone's eye.

2. When Tony came into the room, the door swung until it banged into the wall behind him. He made his way through the crowd, slapping backs and shaking hands.
