

The Superlative

The superlative describes something that is at the upper or lowest limit of a particular quality. The underlined words are superlative adjectives.

Farming is the hardest way to make a living.

Carrots are the crunchiest vegetable to eat raw.

DIRECTIONS: Add a third sentence to each pair that includes a superlative adjective.

1. This day was all right. Yesterday was better.

2. My brother was sick. My sister was sicker.

3. Monday was sunny. Tuesday was sunnier.

4. This sofa is comfortable. That chair is more comfortable.

5. George is shy. Jimmy is shyer.
