

Dialogue for Characterization

One of the tools of indirect characterization is dialogue. Dialogue means the things that characters say to each other.

DIRECTIONS: Imagine you are a writer working on the script for an animated movie for Disney Pixar. Choose one of the characters below, and write a few lines of dialogue that reveal the character's main trait.

Character's Name: _____

Main Trait: _____
