

Adverb Clauses

An adverbial clause is a dependent clause that modifies a verb. Like all clauses, an adverb clause contains a subject and a verb, and it is connected to the rest of the sentence with a subordinating conjunction (for example, because, when, if, as, although etc.)

In a sentence, an adverb clause can function like a single adverb to modify a verb, or it can modify an entire phrase or clause. An adverb clause answers the question where, when, why, how, or how much.

DIRECTIONS: Complete each sentence by adding an adverb clause that answers the question in parentheses.

1. (when?) Aaron waited
2. (how?) Joyce talks
3. (where?) The children ate
4. (when?) The dogs played
5. (why?) My mother called me
6. (how?) my coworkers disagreed
