

In, On, At

The words in, on, and at are all prepositions used to describe time and place.

On is a preposition that can indicate a specific time or location. When talking about time, use on when referring to dates.

Let's get on the bus. We will meet on Saturday.

At is a preposition that indicates a specific time or place. Use at to refer to particular points on the clock or to particular points in the day or week:

She is at her desk. He will call at noon. She will be here at two.

In is a preposition that can indicate a larger, more general time or location. Use in to refer to long periods of time like decades and centuries.

I was born in the sixties. She lives in Minnesota.

DIRECTIONS: Read each sentence. If the sentence is correct, circle correct. If the sentence is incorrect, circle incorrect.

1.	We are leaving on noon, with or without you.	correct	incorrect
2.	Please get in the car.	correct	incorrect
3.	We will see you in the party on Saturday.	correct	incorrect
4.	School ends at ten after two.	correct	incorrect
5.	All my siblings were born in this decade.	correct	incorrect
6.	I have never eaten at that diner.	correct	incorrect

© 15Worksheets.com