

ANSWERS

It is indirect characterization. The author never directly describes Huck. Rather, Huck's character is revealed by his own narrative voice, the way he talks, his perspective on things, the language he uses, what he reports others said to or about him, etc.