

May | Might

Modal auxiliaries modify the mood of a verb. May is used to express permission or possibility. The negative of may is may not. Might is used to express a smaller possibility. The negative of might is might not.

I may figure out how to use this hula hoop.

I might become the world hula hoop champion.

DIRECTIONS: Complete each sentence with may or might.

1. _____ I join you outside?
2. The stock market _____ crash at any time.
3. I invest my money, so I _____ be rich one day.
4. John saves his money, but he still _____ get rich.
5. We _____ make it on time, but I doubt it.
6. The sky is cloudy, so we _____ get some rain.
7. John really trained for the race, but Frank still _____ win.
8. My horse _____ actually win the Preakness this year.