The Hungry Pigeon

Jane and her mother went to the park. They sat on a bench to eat their lunch. They were both eating sandwiches. While they were eating, a pigeon fluttered down and landed at Jane's feet.

"Hello!" Jane said to the pigeon. The pigeon looked right at Jane. He turned his head to the left. Then he turned his head to the right. He hopped forward. Then he hopped backwards.

"Oh, of course!" Jane said.

"What did the pigeon say?" her mother asked.

"He asked for a bite of my sandwich!" Jane said.

She pinched off a bit of crust and tossed it to the pigeon. He snapped it up, fluttered his wings, and flew away happy.
