

ANSWERS

1. the dog Buck
2. No. the POV is 3rd person omniscient.
3. Buck defends himself against cruelty, defends others, and saves others. He also survives and thrives, eventually rising to a position of leadership, both within the sled pack and at the end of the story with the wolf pack that he joins.
4. Buck is taken from his comfortable and familiar life and put into strange and dangerous surroundings. He always strives to do what he thinks is right as he understands it.
5. The setting is the external antagonist in the story. The setting is the wild, and Buck struggles against the wildness in his nature.
6. cruel man, the difficulties of living in the wild (cold, hunger, the struggle for dominance with the other dogs)
7. Buck's story goal is to survive. If he cannot adapt to his new life in the wild, he will die.