

Convince with Evidence

Arguing to convince means arguing with the goal of getting other people to agree with you. You do this by making a logical case to support your point, and that logical case is made by presenting evidence. Evidence is any combination of facts, data, or examples, or quotations that supports your claim.

What do you want to convince people about? This is called your claim. Write your claim below.

What kinds of evidence will you use/find to support your claim?
