

Vivid Sensory Language

Vivid sensory language is language that allows the reader to experience a text through their senses. Vivid sensory language can appeal to any of the five senses: sight, hearing, taste, touch, and smell.

DIRECTIONS. Use vivid sensory language to describe:

the sound a plastic water makes when you crush it	an apple pie in the oven the smell of an early spring morning	a ride on the subway sitting by a fire	sitting beside the ocean jumping into a cold swimming pool	hugging a dog
