

ANSWERS

1. Because of the chemicals it is made from, many kinds of plastic cannot be recycled or reused. Neither does it break down naturally into non-toxic materials. When plastic breaks down into smaller pieces, it just spreads more easily, releasing harmful chemicals into the air, water, and soil that can have negative consequences for animals, plants, humans, and the environment.

2. stainless steel, glass, and biodegradable paper