

The Alarm

Josh did not like to get up in the morning. His bed was so comfortable and cozy. He really did not like the alarm clock. On school days, it buzzed every five minutes. Still drowsy, Josh would slap it silent every five minutes.

"I don't like the alarm clock," Josh told his mother when he finally made it downstairs for breakfast. "It is annoying. It wakes me up."

"That's the whole point!" his mother said, laughing.
