

Resolving Narratives: Tone

The resolution of a story follows the climax and ties all the narrative arcs together. The resolution doesn't just end the story, it gives the reader a sense of how the character's lives will continue beyond the end of the story, both for stand-alone stories and series. As the resolution of a story is your last chance to make an impression on your readers, the tone of the resolution is important. Your tone reflects your own mood and feelings as you are writing.

How do you want your reader to feel at the end of your story? Why?

Brainstorm some ways that you can create the desired tone in your story's resolution.