

Quote of the Day

Selling out is usually more a matter of buying in. Sell out, and you're really buying into someone else's system of values, rules and rewards.

~ Bill Watterson

What do you think this means? Rewrite the quote in your own words.

What does it mean to have your own system of values, rules, and rewards?
