

ANSWERS

A claim is a statement that describes a position or point of view on a topic or issue.

A claim is ALWAYS debatable.

Evidence is any combination of facts, data, or examples, or quotations that support your claim.

Evidence is NOT debatable.

You use evidence to prove that a claim is true.

The statement is evidence.

It is not debatable. It is a fact which can be verified.

Claims will vary. Example: People should take vitamins.