

ANSWERS

Many people thought that four months was too long to wait between electing a new president and their formally assuming the office.

Franklin D. Roosevelt