

ANSWERS

Touch Test	The person who was having fits would calm down when the witch who cursed them touched them.
Dunking	The witch would be dunked in water until they confessed.
Lord's Prayer	The person was a witch if they could not say the Lord's Prayer correctly.
Spectral Evidence	Someone would say they saw the witch in their dreams working with the devil.
Submersion	The accused was tied up and dropped in the water. If they floated, they were a witch. In this method, the accused would drown, proving their innocence.
Pressing	People would place heavy stones on the accused, intended to force out a confession. In this way, the accused was crushed to death.