

ANSWERS

The poem describes how the speaker would like to take more time to pause and appreciate each step along their life's journey, but they are always being called forward by another care or responsibility.