

ANSWERS

1. C

2. B

3. Greek citizenship was characterized by political participation. Roman citizenship was less about political participation and more about an individual's relationship with the state based on law,

4. shared citizenship creates a bond between people who do not otherwise have anything in common to which non-citizens are excluded.

5. B

6. A