Cleopatra's Death

Not all the facts about Cleopatra's death are known. After she and Marc Antony returned to Egypt after their defeat at the Battle of Actium, Marc Antony returned to fight Octavian again. When he realized that he could not win and was going to become Octavian's prisoner, Marc Antony committed suicide. It is said that when she learned of Marc Antony's death, Cleopatra, too, committed suicide by allowing herself to be bitten by a poisonous snake. After her death. Octavian conquered Egypt and absorbed it into the Roman Empire, bringing an end to the Ptolemy dynasty and Egyptian Pharaohs.
