

Limited Government

A principle is a value that guides behavior or serves as the foundation for a belief system or line of reasoning. The United States Constitution rests on seven principles. One of these principles is called Limited Government.

What does the principle of Limited Government mean?

What does Limited Government mean for the leader of a country founded on this Constitutional principle?

Can you think of a current or recent event in which the principle of Limited Government came into play or might have come into play? Explain.