

ANSWERS

1. an organization formed by workers who join together and use their combined strength to have a voice in their workplace.
2. striking, picketing, and boycotting
3. Many were afraid that if they joined the union they would lose their jobs, or even get beat up.
4. A strike is when workers refuse to work.
5. A boycott is when people refuse to buy a product or use a service until the business concedes to certain demands.
6. Will vary.