

ANSWERS

Resolution

The resolution is the part of a story in which the conflict is resolved.
It takes place at the end of the story, following the climax.

Both Resolution and Climax

Both have to do with resolving the main conflict of the story.

Climax

The most exciting, dramatic, or emotional scene in the whole story.
A period of intense change and action.

Resolution

the end to a narrative structure.

Both Resolution and Conclusion

Both resolve loose ends so that a composition can end.

Conclusion

the end of a composition or essay.