Plural Pronouns

Use a pronoun in place of a noun or another pronoun. Like nouns, pronouns can be either singular or plural. They can also be subjects or direct objects in a sentence.

Match each group of words to a pronoun that can represent them.

- |   |       |
|---|-------|
| 1. children (subject)                       | those |
| 2. students (direct object)                 | them  |
| 3. A group that includes me (direct object) | us    |
| 4. my mother and I (subject)                | we    |
| 5. the assignments (subject)                | they  |

Read each sentence. On the line, write the pronoun that can replace the underlined word.
