

ANSWERS

	Theory	Reality
Features	When everyone is equal, there will be no poverty.	There are more poor people, and the poor have been treated horribly by some communist leaders.
Government	The government will own and control everything and provide for everyone according to their needs.	High government control and interference in individual lives.
View on Property	shared/communal everyone has what they need	people have very little, there isn't enough to go around to meet daily needs people have no choices
Economy	everyone will be provided for the goal is community welfare, not profit	Businesses are controlled by the government growth is stagnant people don't have a say in what jobs they do