

ANSWERS

Time period: early 19th century

Geographical Location: Devonshire and London (England)

Both town and country. The settings show both landed gentry and less affluent lifestyles.

Could elements be changed? Answers will vary. The novel is set during a time in which the bourgeoisie was able to rise in social class, and it focuses on the interactions between social classes. This story would not be the same during a time and place where social class was not such a driving and defining issue.