

ANSWERS WILL VARY

Poems typically have at least some of the following characteristics:

it has rhyme or rhythm, it evokes an emotional response, it uses figurative language, and the physical and grammatical arrangement of words can enhance the reader's overall experience.

Poetry and prose typically try to accomplish different things.