

Roger and Abe

Abe was very shy. He would often avoid being around a group of kids. Roger was NOT shy. Roger liked everyone. When Roger saw Abe standing alone on the playground, Roger wanted to include him.

"It's okay," Abe said. "I would rather just watch."

A few days later, Roger was riding his skateboard down his street when he saw Abe.

"Hey!" Roger called. Then he fell off his skateboard!

"Do you need help?" Abe said, running over.

"My knee is banged up," Roger said. "Do you want to ride this skateboard for me?"

"Oh, yes," Abe said. He was not so shy when he was talking to just one person.

1. How are Roger and Abe different?

2. What happens to Roger?

3. What make it easier for Abe to get to know Roger?
