

Sally's Idea

DIRECTIONS: Read the story. Then put the events of the story in the correct sequence.

Every year, near the end of October, Sally's parents took her and her brothers and sisters to the pumpkin patch to choose a pumpkin to be their Halloween Jack-o'-lantern. The whole family looked forward to the trip. When they arrived at the patch, the kids ran off in four different directions. All over the patch, kids were pointing out the biggest pumpkins, and their parents were picking them up and taking them away to pay for them. Sally's brothers and sister were looking for a giant pumpkin too. Sally looked around at all the little pumpkins that nobody was buying and felt sorry for them. Then she had an idea. What if, instead of getting one big, expensive pumpkin, she and her brothers and sister each chose a small, inexpensive pumpkin? Then they could each have their own jack-o'-lantern to carve. Her whole family agreed with that idea. That year, their four small jack-o'-lanterns on their front porch, and each one was smiling!

- _____ The kids ran off in four different directions.
- _____ Sally noticed all the little pumpkins.
- _____ Sally has an idea.
- _____ Sally's family went to the pumpkin patch.
- _____ Sally's brothers and sister were looking for a giant pumpkin.
- _____ Sally's family agrees with her idea.
- _____ There were four jack-o'-lanterns smiling on their front porch