

ANSWERS

1. A

2. C

3. B

4. No. The white astronauts became household names, but Katherine Johnson and the dozens of other Black women who made the success of these astronauts possible were basically unknown. Not only that, in spite of their great work for the country, they still had to deal with the racial prejudices of the time in both their personal and professional lives

5. B