Question the Question

DIRECTIONS: Use a technique called "questioning the question" to dig deeper into the question you will be answering in your essay. Ask and answer the following.

What question are you exploring?

Is there a generally agreed-upon response to the question or a typical approach to take?

If there are multiple approaches (arguments, theories, etc.), what are they, and how do they differ?

Which approach would be the best for you?

What are the key concepts at play here?

How are the key concepts related to each other?
