

ANSWERS

People from different countries and cultures, who did not all speak each other's language, had to work together.

Other answers will vary.