

The Roaring Twenties

The 1920s was a rich time in U.S. history. Conduct a sustained research project into this decade, which encompasses a substantial amount of social and political changes. At a minimum, consult at least three sources specific to each of the following topics:

- Mass consumerism
- The Arts and Culture
- The Harlem Renaissance
- Prohibition
- Race Relations
- Landmark Legal Cases
- Politics

When you have completed this first stage of research and feel you have a solid understanding of what was going on in the 1920s, take a deeper dive into one particular topic to learn all that you can about it.

Write an informational paper about your chosen focused topic that connects it to the context of everything else that was going on in this decade.