

ANSWERS

Time period: 1801-1802, with flashbacks from 30 years previous

Geographical Location: Yorkshire, a region in the north of England

The action of the story takes place in wild and isolated areas, where two families have estates. Many passages in the novel describe the moors. Moors can't be cultivated. They can be hard to navigate and dangerous. The moors symbolize wildness.

Could elements be changed? Answers will vary. The novel is set during a time in which lives were defined by social class. This story would not be the same during a time and place where social class was not such a driving and defining issue. Also, the moors serve a symbolic function in the story.
