

ANSWERS WILL VARY

In fiction, titles give reader's an idea of what the story is about. They make also reflect the genre and the mood/tone of the story. Readers use titles as a way to decide whether or not they would like to read a story. In nonfiction, titles also tell readers what a text is about, but they give the reader a clue as to what kind of information they are likely to find within a text.