

Subordinating Conjunctions

A subordinating conjunction introduces a subordinate clause. A clause contains a subject and a verb. A clause can function as a noun, adjective, or adverb in a sentence.

DIRECTIONS: Underline the subordinating conjunctions.

1. I won't come over until I hear from you.
2. The bus came just as Tom stopped to offer me a ride.
3. I accepted his invitation, though I had reservations.
4. This coat, which George gave to me, is my favorite.
5. I will be ready to go whenever you get here.
6. Supposing we win the game, what should we do with the prize?
7. I will be ready after I drink this cup of coffee.
8. I called you because I think I need some help.
9. I haven't been feeling well since I saw Roger the other day.
10. I will be there, even if I have to cancel something else.
