

Subjunctives

TRUE/FALSE

- The subjunctive mood is a verb form which expresses a wish, a suggestion, a hope, a command, or an imaginary situation.
1. _____
- Form the present subjunctive with the base form of a verb followed by the word "that."
2. _____
3. The subjunctive mood only follows verbs. _____
- The past subjunctive appears mostly in subordinate clauses that begin with (as) if or though.
4. _____
- Without exception, the past subjunctive always uses the same form as the past simple tense.
5. _____
- Use the past subjunctive after "if only" followed by a clause with would, could, or might.
6. _____
- The past subjunctive is always followed by a clause or sentence that includes would or could.
7. _____
- The subjunctive can be used to emphasize doubt, hypothesis, or supposition
8. _____