

ANSWERS

While writing, the speaker sees a tiny insect on his paper and decides not to kill it.

The mood is initially thoughtful, then becomes a little contemptuous and then condescendingly humorous.

The tone is whimsical, becoming arrogant, and then ironic/sarcastic.