First Day of School

Amiyah had a great first day of school. Many of her friends from last year were in her class. Her teacher, Mr. Winkler, was funny. The students' desks were arranged in a circle around the room, instead of in rows. When Mr. Winkler was teaching, he stood in the center of the circle, turning from time to time, to face different students as he talked. Instead of being in school, it was like they were watching a play.

What are three things Amiyah likes about the first day of school?
