

ANSWERS

The prologue “crawls” slowly across the screen as the opening sequence of the movie for audiences to read.

It says that there is a civil war going on between the Galactic Empire and Rebel forces, and that the Rebels have stolen secret plans to the Empire’s DEATH star. It says that Princess Leia has these plans, and that she is on her way home to save her planet.

Yes, it is necessary, because without it, the viewer would not understand what’s going on, since the movie opens in the middle of an action scene. The viewer would also not understand the full significance of what happens in the opening scene.