

Name _____

World Poetry Day

Answer Key

Correction Marks

In a quiet corner of a colorful garden, a young girl named Lily sat under a blossoming cherry tree with her notebook in hand. she had a special secret – she loved writer poems. With each word she penned, her imagination soared, and she felt like a poet weaving magic with hers words.

One sunny day, her friend, Max, discovered her hidden talent Max was intrigued and asked Lily to read one of her poems aloud. As she recited her verses about nature, the garden seemed to come alive with the beauty of her words. Max was inspired, and together, they decided to create a poetry club where they could share their poems and stories with others. There poetry club blossomed, bringing the joy of writing, and reading poetry to all their friends and making the garden an enchanting place where words danced like Butterflies on the breeze.

Complete Passage

In a quiet corner of a colorful garden, a young girl named Lily sat under a blossoming cherry tree with her notebook in hand. She had a special secret – she loved writing poems. With each word she penned, her imagination soared, and she felt like a poet weaving magic with her words.

One sunny day, her friend, Max, discovered her hidden talent. Max was intrigued and asked Lily to read one of her poems aloud. As she recited her verses about nature, the garden seemed to come alive with the beauty of her words. Max was inspired, and together, they decided to create a poetry club where they could share their poems and stories with others. Their poetry club blossomed, bringing the joy of writing, and reading poetry to all their friends and making the garden an enchanting place where words danced like butterflies on the breeze.