

Inauguration Day

Answer Key

Correction Marks

Once upon a time in a town called unityville, there was a special day that everyone looked forward to every four years - Inauguration Day It was a day when the town came together to celebrate the peaceful transition of leadership.

The town square was decorated with colorful banners, and a podium stood in the center, where the new leader would take their oath. Families gathered, and children waved tiny Flags with excitement.

The day was filled with speeches about unity, hope, and working together for a better future. The new leader promised to listen to the people and make the town an even more wonderful place to live.

As the sun set on inauguration Day, lanterns were lit, symbolizing the bright path ahead. The people of Unityville knew that by coming together they could achieve great things, and Inauguration Day reminded them of the power of unity and hope.

Complete Passage

Once upon a time in a town called Unityville, there was a special day that everyone looked forward to every four years – Inauguration Day. It was a day when the town came together to celebrate the peaceful transition of leadership.

The town square was decorated with colorful banners, and a podium stood in the center, where the new leader would take their oath. Families gathered, and children waved tiny flags with excitement.

The day was filled with speeches about unity, hope, and working together for a better future. The new leader promised to listen to the people and make the town an even more wonderful place to live.

As the sun set on Inauguration Day, lanterns were lit, symbolizing the bright path ahead. The people of Unityville knew that by coming together, they could achieve great things, and Inauguration Day reminded them of the power of unity and hope.