

Name _____

International Cat Day

Answer Key

Correction Marks

Cats make great Pets for numerous reasons, making them won of the most popular companion animals worldwide. Their independent nature allows them to be low-maintenance pets, making them an excellent choice for individuals with busy lifestyles. Cats are self-sufficient when it comes to grooming and using a litter box, requiring les hands-on care than some other animals. This independence doesn't mean they don't nt enjoy human interaction, though. Many cats form strong bonds with their owners and enjoy cuddling, playing, and providing companionship.

Cats are also known for their agility, grace, and playful behavior, which can by both entertaining and endearing. Their diverse personalities mean there's a cat for everyone, whether you're looking for a more laid-back lap cat or a spirited and playful kitten. Cats often adapt well to indoor living, which can be a safer environment for them, and they have a long lifespan, allowing for years of companionship and love Overall, cats make great pets due to their adaptability, low-maintenance care, and ability to form strong and meaningful connections with their owners.

Complete Passage

Cats make great pets for numerous reasons, making them one of the most popular companion animals worldwide. Their independent nature allows them to be low-maintenance pets, making them an excellent choice for individuals with busy lifestyles. Cats are self-sufficient when it comes to grooming and using a litter box, requiring less hands-on care than some other animals. This independence doesn't mean they don't enjoy human interaction, though. Many cats form strong bonds with their owners and enjoy cuddling, playing, and providing companionship.

Cats are also known for their agility, grace, and playful behavior, which can be both entertaining and endearing. Their diverse personalities mean there's a cat for everyone, whether you're looking for a more laid-back lap cat or a spirited and playful kitten. Cats often adapt well to indoor living, which can be a safer environment for them, and they have a long lifespan, allowing for years of companionship and love. Overall, cats make great pets due to their adaptability, low-maintenance care, and ability to form strong and meaningful connections with their owners.