

Name _____

Answer Key: Elements and Their Properties

1. The two types of properties used to describe elements are physical properties and chemical properties.

2. Examples of physical properties of elements include melting point, boiling point, and density.

3. Chemical properties describe how elements react with other substances.

4. Sodium is highly reactive and can explode when exposed to water. Noble gases like helium are very unreactive.

5. False