Neologisms You Use

The English language is always changing because the world is always changing as we learn more, invent new technologies, and have new experiences. A neologism is a brand new word that has recently been created. One place where neologisms seem to appear almost daily is in social media.

What are some neologisms that you use regularly on social media? A neologism can be a word, a phrase, an acronym, or even an abbreviation. Write down your examples, along with what each one means.
