

ANSWERS

1. a word that is created by blending two other words together. The new word has a unique meaning that includes the meaning of the two words that were used to create it.
2. A compound word is created by joining two entire words to create a new, third word with a new meaning. A portmanteau takes parts of two or more words and blends those parts together to create a new, third word with a new meaning that combines both meanings of the original words.
3. words provided may vary