

Invective

An invective is language intended to insult or offend. There are two types of invective. High invective uses formal, creative language. Low invective features rude and offensive imagery.

DIRECTIONS: Rewrite each low invective as a high invective.

1. You are a lazy slob.

---

---

2. That guy is a jerk.

---

---

3. You just said something really stupid.

---

---

4. What's the matter? Are you chicken?

---

---

5. Nobody likes you.

---

---