Writing with Pathetic Fallacy

Pathetic fallacy is a kind of personification. In the pathetic fallacy, human emotions are attributed to inanimate things in nature. The word “pathetic” means “imparting emotions to something else.” Pathetic fallacy is often used in creative writing.

DIRECTIONS: Write a descriptive paragraph about something in nature. Choose an object or an animal in nature and imagine what it would be like to be that thing. Then write about an experience they might have.
