

ANSWERS WILL VARY

Sample answers:

I watched and watched and watched the frog, and nothing happened, and then it's tongue shot out of its mouth and it caught a fly.

It took the goat all morning to reach the top of the mountain, and once he did, he just stood, and stood, and stood, and stood, looked about, and stood.

The desert was enormous. He drove and drove and drove and drove, and the scenery never changed, and he never seemed to get anywhere.